The 22 Best Anti-Frizz Products of 2022 For Smooth, Silky Hair

Our best overall pick is Fekkai Brilliant Gloss Multi-Tasker Perfecting Crème

written by MELANIE RUD UPDATED ON 12/02/22

Mouzakis advises starting your frizz-fighting routine in the shower; you can definitely layer on smoothing products after the fact, but creating the right foundation with the shampoo you choose can go a long way. This is one of the best ones for the job, with an ultra-creamy and hydrating formula that leaves hair softer, smoother, and stronger after every wash. Plus, the formula features silk and wheat proteins and bamboo in the mix, which is always a good thing.

* What Our Testers Say

"Never has my hair felt as silky smooth as when I first tried this smoothing shampoo from Leonor Greyl. It's immensely softening and keeps dried, frayed cuticles at bay. It's basically like a salon keratin treatment in a bottle." —Lindsey Metrus, Product Tester

How To Get Sienna Miller's Shade Of Champagne Blonde, According To Her Colourist

BY HANNAH COATES

Joel Mowen's hair care favourites

Statistics suggest that only two per cent of the world's population are naturally blonde. No doubt you know plenty of blondes – but that's largely thanks to colourists, most of whom spend a good portion of their time blonde-ifying clients. The trick to the very best (and most believable) blonde is to make it look natural.

One man who gets blonde (and all the other hair shades) right time and time again is Joel Mowen, who works at the Marie Robinson

The 10 Best Scalp Massagers of 2022, Tested and Reviewed

The Leonor Greyl Massaging Scalp Brush earns our best overall pick.

By Linne Halpern | Updated on November 18, 2022 @ 12:13PM top of mind. After reporting back with the notes and insights, we narrowed the list down to our top ten recommendations. The Leonor Greyl Massaging Scalp Brush earned our best overall pick for its ergonomic grip, super soft bristles, and ability to increase hair treatment penetration.

Best Overall: Leonor Greyl Massaging Scalp Brush

★★★★★ 5

This scalp brush earns top honors in our book for its soft and durable bristles, ability to aid in product penetration, and great price. Not only did our tester provide rave reviews, but she says her friends couldn't get enough of it, either. "I was offering this up to friends when they came over just to sit for a bit and have a nice head massage," she says. "It's easy to use on both dry and wet hair and amazing at working up suds, but I loved it most for a moment of relaxation." She also notes that unlike some other scalp massagers on the market, it doesn't tangle strands, and its handle helps her maintain a good grip. Instead of giving your fingers a workout to push product to your scalp, let this massager do the heavy lifting. "It's also the perfect gift for any beauty-loving friend," she adds. The performance of this tool is simply impeccable, but keep in mind that using it on dyed hair can sometimes stain the bristles — a very minor downside that is easy to ignore.

Joe Jonas

Earlier this week, the second-oldest Jonas brother hit the LA premiere of his upcoming film, Devotion, with an extremely enviable mane on full display. The key to keeping your strands from shriveling up if you find yourself somewhere with weather slightly less pleasant than the Golden State? A hydrating hair mask. French brand Leonor Greyl uses jojoba oil, shea butter, and vanilla extract to instantly revive parched strands—and happens to smell incredible too. But to really nail Jonas' gently slicked-back look (and tame those rogue flyaways), top it off with a strong pomade. We're partial to Firsthand Supply's all-purpose option, made with clean ingredients you can feel good about rubbing into your precious crown.
