4 Organic, Eco-Friendly Products That Can Upgrade Your Self Care Routine

Self-care has become a huge part of surviving the last two plus years of, well, whatever craziness has been going on in the world. It's hard to keep track. And with these consistently stressful days, we can all start to feel the toll it can take, not only our mental health, but also our bodies. Taking care of yourself has never been so important, which is why you should only consider using the best, most natural products on the market.

From keeping your skin fresh, clean, and youthful to giving your hair some overdue TLC, a lot can go into the care and keeping of our bodies. In fact, it can even start to feel a little overwhelming. The self-care industry is growing as demand grows, and as a result, a million ads and products and treatments can be shoved in your face every time you go online or hit the streets. And a million different influencers are telling you what you should and shouldn't be doing. It's inescapable and exhausting and makes it difficult to know which products and which self-care treatments are actually worth your time and money.

Hair Growth Oil

That's where we come in. We've investigated companies we think might be worthy of your investment. We wanted to find a company that was trustworthy, organic, and eco-friendly with the belief that what's good for the earth is also good for our bodies. That's how we discovered Oil Divine and their line of top-quality, clean, beauty oil products. Some companies rely on chemicals to get results, some companies sacrifice the results for the sake of being able to say they're organic. Oil Divine hits the sweet spot right in the middle - eco-friendly, organic, ethically made in the USA, vegan, and cruelty-free products that support your desired results. Oil Divine focuses on targeted solutions results.

So, the big question, Which Oil Divine products are the products that are about to revolutionize your self-care regime? Out of their impressive line of oils we've chosen our four favorites, AND Oil Divine is offering 25% off with the code GET25 on all products + free standard shipping just for reading this article - use this link: <https://oildivine.com/discount/get25>

CAN OILS STOP HAIR LOSS? WE ASKED AN EXPERT

MARCH 23, 2022

They smell great and make your hair shiny. But can using hair oils stop hair loss? We asked an expert

By Jessica Dickson

Did you know that the average person loses 50 to 100 strands of hair a day? With an average of 100,000 hair strands per person, there should be strands to spare. But when you're losing hair that's not growing back, or you're losing too many hairs at once, you may be at risk of hair loss.

And it seems more and more women are suffering from hair loss or stunted hair growth. There could be several reasons for this.

5 Reasons Why Women Are Losing Hair

1. Genes

Introduction to Oil Divine

Oil Divine

More and more of us have become increasingly ethically conscious with our lifestyles - from the things we consume and products we use to the types of energy we use, there are numerous ways you could make greener lifestyle choices and changes. Clean beauty has been on the rise, with more and more brands advertised as clean, products that claim to be nontoxic and of natural ingredients. However, when taking a deep dive at the ingredients list - not all are truly clean, most have toxic and synthetic ingredients that consumers can hardly pronounce masked by a couple of ingredients of natural origin. Enters Oil Divine, a female-founded and owned clean beauty oil brand that offers squeaky clean beauty solutions.

Oil Divine Organic Hair Growth Oil, Pre-Shampoo Scalp Treatment

Another hair product that Jenni's been trying and has rave reviews for is the Organic Hair Growth Oil, Pre-Shampoo Scalp Treatment. Jenni says that it has a subtle Rosemary-Lemon-Lavender aroma that she loves.

"When I worked in spas we would do hot oil treatments for clients during a facial. Heat the product in your towel warmer and then massage it into their hair with a scalp massage. Wrap in a towel and let them wash it out after the facial. With all of the women who process their hair, these treatments are a God-send to bring shine and vitality back to the hair." Jenni Nagle.

Oil Divine says, "There are a lot of things that can cause hair thinning or fallout: lack of sleep, postpartum, low thyroid function or other hormonal imbalance, chemotherapy, poor scalp condition, vitamin deficiencies. It is very important to tackle this issue from all angles.

This Hair Care Oil is a new generation, natural, vegan, cruelty-free, and non-toxic hair care, based on pure organic plant oils to immediately help the scalp and hair get moisturized and nourished, to support a balanced follicular ecosystem, and to improve hair manageability, provide natural shine, leaving hair looking fuller and healthier. This pre-shampoo treatment is working smart to revitalize hair roots.
